The Profit Seasons Calendar

Capitalizing on this “Profit Seasons” calendar couldn’t be easier.

As you know from our presentation, there’s NOTHING complex about it.

It doesn’t require you to use options, day trade, or figure out how the heck a futures contract works.

You don’t have to monitor your brokerage account all day long.

You don’t have to read a bunch of technical charts or financial statements either.

All you need to understand is how to use a simple calendar — just like the one you have on the kitchen wall. Or your office desk.

The only difference between those calendars and the one you’re about to see is that this one has several dozen stock symbols connected to certain dates — telling you exactly when to buy them and when to sell them.

You’ve already seen the historical results from following along with this seasonality driven investment strategy.

Returns that can be anywhere from seven... thirteen... and as much as twenty times higher than buying and holding stocks.

So I urge you, take advantage of it as soon as you can.

And remember, this calendar is just one small piece of what you’re about to experience inside of Personal Finance.

You’re joining the ranks of thousands of subscribers inside the flagship advisory of our investment research company, Investing Daily.

You’ll be among subscribers who have profited from our advice for decades now...
42 years to be exact.

People like Glenn C., who wrote in to say:

“I have been receiving Personal Finance for many years and have come to rely on it as my main source of information. I was able to build my portfolio to $2M+ and now receive plenty of dividends.”

Robert K., who told us straight out:

“I have definitely made money due to Personal Finance.”

And Margo F., said:

“I have made quite a lot of money following your investment advice.”

I believe Personal Finance is the most unique and effective wealth-building newsletter available today.

Nowhere else will you get the kind of out-of-the-box thinking that has made thousands of subscribers independently wealthy.

Cutting-edge approaches and techniques like this calendar.

So take your time, and explore your Personal Finance subscription.

Remember, you'll get a full 12-page issue from our team every two weeks, instant access to our private membership website, our email alerts, back issues, and portfolios.

On behalf of the entire Personal Finance team, we look forward to helping you invest better for years to come.

Sincerely,
